FEDERAL MILK ORDER TEMPORARY PRICES SET BY USDA

The U.S. Department of Agriculture amended Federal milk marketing orders where necessary to set fluid milk (Class I) prices to dairy farmers during the next 8 months at levels to moderate any declines under 70 Federal milk marketing orders.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said the amendments went into effect December 1. Approval of dairy farmers in all markets was determined through polling their dairy cooperative associations.

USDA officials said the temporary price levels will assure farmers of basic fluid milk price levels generally higher than otherwise expected over the next 8 months.

"The overall impact," officials said, "will be to limit any sharp price declines at the farm level related to changing production conditions through the winter and spring months, thus enabling dairy producers to make their production plans with greater certainty."

The amended orders are based on evidence received by USDA at emergency public hearings held during November at Cleveland, St. Louis, Denver, Washington, D.C., Minneapolis, Minn., and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., at the request of dairy farmer representatives.

This action, for most Federal order markets where prices depend on the value of manufactured dairy products, sets the basic formula price for December, January, and February at not less than $4.26, which was used in calculating November 1966 prices. For March and April, the basic formula price will be not less than $4.15. For May, June and July the price will be not less than $4.05. If during these months the price for manufactured milk products reaches a higher level, then the higher price will be used in determining the fluid milk (Class I) prices. These prices are computed each month by adding specified differentials to the basic formula price, or

GOVERNMENT LOSES DECISION IN LEWES DAIRY CASE

A decision adverse to the Government's position was issued in the Lewes Dairy case on November 9 by the U. S. District Court for the District of Delaware. This case involves the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture to regulate the price of that portion of a handler's milk which is distributed outside a Federal order marketing area. The Court held that Lewes Dairy should be regulated "... only as to that portion of its production actually introduced into the Upper Chesapeake Bay marketing area." This issue could have a very important effect on Federal milk orders throughout the country and therefore the Government is expected to appeal the decision of the District Court.

Lewes contended that by fully regulating its operations the Federal order places it at a disadvantage in competing with 10 other small handlers who do business only in the nonfederally regulated areas in Delaware. The decision of the District Judge states, "Lewes competes with the other local handlers both in purchasing milk from the Delaware farmers and in selling it to the retail stores." The decision continues, "... Lewes must pay a price for its milk, set by the forces of supply and demand, which is greater than the 'blend price' fixed by the Maryland order."

In summarizing the reasons for finding that the order constituted a "trade barrier", the District Judge stated: "The net effect of the Secretary's milk order, if it is allowed to remain in force as currently written, would be either to put Lewes out of business for failure to secure raw milk, or to force it to pay more for its milk than its competitors, which might well have the same end result. By having to pay the local competitive price for milk, and alone having to pay an extra amount into the Maryland producer fund, Lewes is put at a serious competitive disadvantage. This is a penalty Lewes is forced to pay for the single reason that it chooses to sell some of its production in Maryland. Surely, this is the kind of 'economic trade barrier' sought to be prohibited by par. (5)(G) (of the Marketing Agreement Act), as construed in Lehigh Valley."

* Subject to location differentials where applicable. In the case of members of approved cooperatives, these prices are subject to the deductions authorized by the associations. The prices listed do not include any premium payments which may be paid by handlers and which may bring actual payments in excess of the minimum requirements.

WISCONSIN FEDERAL MILK ORDER BULLETIN

Published Monthly By Federal Milk Market Administrator
3034 West Wisconsin Avenue
Appleton, Wisconsin
for the

Milwaukee, Northeastern and Madison Marketing Areas

This bulletin is primarily to provide producers who are not members of cooperative associations with market information in accordance with §1039.74 of the Milwaukee Wisconsin marketing order, §1045.75 of the Northeastern Wisconsin marketing order, and §1051.77 of the Madison Wisconsin marketing order.

COMPARISON OF DAILY PRODUCER DELIVERIES TO DAILY CLASS I UTILIZATION

HAVE YOU HEARD

Supreme Dairy of Wausau has been purchased by Consolidated Badger Co-op of Shawano effective December 1, 1966.

* * *

Fahrwald Farms Dairy of Oshkosh has sold out to Hawthorn-Mellody Farms Dairy effective December 10, 1966.

* * *

Vandals opened the back valve and emptied an over-the-road tanker awaiting shipment on the lot of Madison Milk Producers Co-op. The discovery was made Sunday November 27th when the driver went out to make ready for shipment.

* * *

Ideal Dairy of Platteville, Wisconsin ceased their bottling operation in November 1966. They became a distributor of an Iowa dairy.

* * *

The Hiawatha Valley Dairies Co-op has been awarded the first Grade A milk powder permit ever issued by the Chicago Board of Health.

* * *

The stocks of creamery butter in storage December 1 totaled 40 million pounds, the lowest for that date since 1932. This low level of supplies reflected this year's decline in production of milk and a consequent smaller quantity of butter.

manufacturing milk average price for the preceding month at Minnesota-Wisconsin plants.

Amendment of only 56 of the orders was needed to put the pricing changes into effect. In the other orders the changes will be effective automatically through price ties with the orders being formally amended.
